Nurse n66.

n66. Although not requiring a university degree, registered nurses are recognized as professionals because "(they) have traditionally been regarded as professional persons." Matter of Gutierrez, 12 I. & N. Dec. 418 (D.D. 1967). In the wake of the demise of the H-1A, the Service is permitting H-1B to registered nurses only if the petitioner can establish a past practice of limiting its hire of registered nurses to those who have at least a bachelor's degree, or where the degree is a state licensing requirement. See memorandum by Michael L. Aytes, Acting Ass't Comm'r, File No. HQ 214h-C (Nov. 17, 1995), reprinted in 15 AILA Monthly Mailing 22 (Jan. 1996).
